A message from Mrs Ball...

What a busy week! Firstly, Gool Peran Lowen for yesterday. We had a fantastic day celebrating all things Cornish! We were very lucky to be joined by Gideon (from the local community) to help us mark the day.

Then a fabulous end to the week celebrating all things books! It has been great fun trying to guess which books the children have come as with their props and how they have represented them in a jar. We hope you enjoy the quiz on Page 2!

Author Naomi Jones spent the morning in school with us. She is a proud dyslexic author, who lives in Cornwall with her family. She is passionate about making reading accessible. We started the day with Naomi leading an assembly for all of the children. She then carried out workshops in each of the classes. Class 1 enjoyed "How to catch a Rainbow", Class 2 - "The perfect fit" and Class 3 - "Thunderboots".

A big thank you to the PTA who helped us celebrate World Book Day and the Year of Reading by funding Naomi's visit.

Just for fun! Can you guess which books these are?

Class 1

What a glorious start to March, the flowers have been blooming and Class 1 have had been busy learning all about seeds this week in science, we have had an exciting lesson exploring what is inside. First, we pulled the seed coat off, then we looked at the baby plant that will eventually grow a stem, roots and leaves from it! In English we have been learning new skills, one of those skills is turning singular words into plurals by adding s or es, we have also been using adjectives to make our sentences more interesting describing something. In art we have enjoyed looking at using shapes and space to create a composition, we loved using the shapes to draw around and making our artwork that is inspired by the famous artist Henri Matisse.

Class 2

We've had such a lovely week in Class 2! In our English lessons we have started looking at different letter types and the features that are needed to make a letter using our story The boy who grew dragons. Our maths learning this week has been about 2D and 3D shapes, which fit brilliantly with our story from Naomi Jones, all about a circle who wanted to build a tower!

Our planting is coming along too, this week we have planted cress, basil, thyme and sage! The children are really loving this opportunity to put into practice what we have been learning and can't wait to see the fruits of their hard work!

Class 3

This week has been very busy; we have been juggling our lessons with St. Piran's Day, World Book Day, Book Quizzes and Cross-country races – it has been full-on!

In English, we have been writing vivid descriptions of Ancient Rome, thinking carefully about vocabulary that helps bring the city to life. Meanwhile in Maths, pupils have been calculating perimeters, areas and volumes, applying their knowledge to a variety of problems. In Science, we have explored how adaptations can help species survive and thrive in particular environments, linking this to our wider topic learning. During Computing lessons, the class has been designing their own video games, considering characters, rules and gameplay. In Art, the children have been learning how artists create depth in landscapes by using foreground, middle ground and background. Alongside this, our History learning has focused on the origins of Rome and how the small settlement gradually grew into a powerful empire.

Six children from Class 3 also travelled to Kresen Kernow near Redruth to take part in the Book Quiz finals. During the visit we met the author Tom Palmer, who spoke to us about his life and how he became a writer, which was fascinating to hear. The team then competed in the quiz and achieved an impressive score of 25 out of 30, which we were very proud of. Although it was not quite enough to win this time, everyone enjoyed the experience and represented the school brilliantly — even if it did involve a very long coach journey!
